On last Saturday evening the Volunteers' Families Relief Committee will give another concert at the Masonic Temple. The best talent of the city have kindly volunteered their services and we have no hesitation in saying it will be well worthy the patronage of the loyal ladies and gentleman of Louisville, and to insure a full house we need only say the committee are much in want of funds to alleviate the wants of the families of the volunteers. d&n

The attention of those interested is called to the City Ordinances which we publish this morning. By a recent act of the Legislature the General Council is empowered to require a license of all vehicles running for profit or hire, and we are requested by Mr. Joseph Jones, the License

Inspector, to say to all such to call and pay their license to the Treasurer and receive from the Clerks of the Council their certificates. These failing to comply will find that the ordinance will be enforced.

THE QUARTERMASTER GENERAL FOR KEN-TUCKY.—We are informed by a gentleman now in command of a regiment of Kentucky troops, that this officer insists that "jackets with standing collars" are a comfortable substitute for shirts without collars for men now in the field. Our informant wishes this high officer had to live in a tent this winter and wear a shirt without a collar, to give proof of his sincerity.

POLICE PROCEEDINGS.—Tuesday, Jan. 21.

Theodore Finley, charged with stealing two mules from G. W. Welch. Continued until Thursday.

Hy, O'Neil, drunk and disorderly conduct; $200 for two months. Gona up.

Jim Murphy, drunk and disorderly;

$200 for six months. Gona up.

OUR CITY REGISTER.—By last night's mail we received No. 1 of a well filled, well printed paper, bearing the above title, published at the village of Oil City, Venango county, Pa., by our old friend, formerly a foreman in this office, Walter R. Johns. We wish him all possible success in his new enterprise.

Three hundred mules were shipped from Cincinnati to Lexington on Monday, and as many more yesterday.

SITUATION Near Cumberland Gap.

THE STORY OF A DESERTER FROM HUMPHREY

MARSHALL'S ARMY.

CAMP CALVERT, NEAR LONDON, KY.,

January 17, 1862.

Editors Democrat.—Gentlemen: Jack

Jones has just arrived from Flat Lick, five or six miles this side of Cumberland Gap, and reports two or three hundred redoubtably there from Cumberland Gap, and a body of infantry close behind. Their strength is not known. It is about thirty miles from our camp to the Ford, and fifteen miles from the Ford to Cumberland Gap.

There are no troops here except Colonel Garrison's regiment, and about one-third of them unfit for duty. We ought to have force sufficient to move up as far as Cumberland Gap, at least.

A deserter came into our camp this evening from Marshall's army. He reports that Marshall had three thousand, "flock and well." He is trying to make his way back to Fleming county. His name is John Marshall. He has been in the rebel army about two months, and says he has got his full share of Southern rights. Marshall's force consisted of two squadrons of cavalry, under Lieut. Col. —, of Bourbon county—W. E. Simms was Colonel of the regiment but was not on duty—Sandys three infantry regiments, commanded respectively by Col. Williams, of Clarke county, Col. Trigg, of Virginia, and Col. —, of —, and four pieces of cannon.

John M. Burns, of Prestonsburg, is Brigade Commander, and Judge Wm. H.

AMONG THE NEGROES.—After a great deal of thought, reading, reflection, meditation, and prayer, we have determined that we will support the cause of the colored people. Every day we are oppressed by their wrongs. We are now going to support his proposition; only, as we are intensely practical as Gradgrind, we intend giving it a practical form.

We are in favor, then, of immediately raising a brigade of five thousand negroes in this city, and of appointing Massa Greeley to command it. We can easily supply the negroes, and will be glad to get rid of Greeley. His commission as Brigadier General Massa Greeley has been easily procured of President Lincoln; or, if the President refuses to have anything to do with Greeley and his policy, let Governor Morgan be applied to, or, still better, Governor Andrew, of Massachusetts. An easier way would be, however, to obtain a commission from Governor Davis, of Coney Island, who has full authority in the premises, and whose commissions are just as good as those of Lincoln, Morgan, Andrew, or any other man. They should be ready in this matter; for we long to see Greeley in all the glory and circumstance of war, shining like a comet in his appropriate sphere, with his white hat and coat exchanged for a General's plumed cap and of King uniform, and his legs encased in a pair of seven league jackboots, of the style of Bombastes Furioso.—N. Y. Herald

JAYHAWKERS SHOT.—On Wednesday night, at the residence of Mr. Warren Lewis, who resides some eight miles below this city, there was quite a brisk and desperate fight between five or six Federal soldiers, and a party of the same size of Jayhawkers, from Kansas. The Jayhawkers were making a descent on Mr.

Lewis for the purpose of taking his horses, which were resisted by the Federal, who were staying with Mr. Lewis that night. We learned that it was a hand to hand fight, and one of the Jayhawkers received several severe bayonet wounds, and four were shot.

In the melee, two horses had been stolen the day before, were recovered, and the commission of John Butwell, Second Lieutenant Independent Creek Rangers, was found after the affair was over. It seems the latest deed of the "Reds," that the Jayhawkers had a hard time of it, there is no question, as there was a great deal of blood on the ice where they crossed the river, going over to Kansas.

Mr. Lewis was in the city to-day, and obtained reinforcements, expecting another attack.

Gen. Loan, whilst using every effort to put down this rebellion in this section, is equally determined to put down all lawless and thieving elements. He has been engaged on the other side of the river, in the same efforts. We rather think horse thieves will find this part of the country too hot to hold them.—St. Joseph Courier.

GEN. DIX AND THE TALKATIVE SPOON.

LADY—A SENSATION STORY SPOILED.—The

Baltimore Patriot thus disposes of the story told by the Charleston Mercury of the fearful display of Scotch eloquence made to Gen. Dix by a certain Mrs. W. of Southern sympathies.

We are requested by Gen. Dix to deny in the most positive manner the authenticity of a conversation reported to have taken place between himself and a lady styled Mrs.

—, which was published in the South of yesterday afternoon, and purported to be copied from a Richmond paper. He says there is no truth whatever in it, so far as he is concerned; no such conversation ever took place, for the reason that he never saw nor spoke to the lady.

ILLINOIS COFFEE.—Mr. George R. Hoffman, of Elmhurst, Illinois, Ill., last year

-BUSINESS NOTICES.

RIVER MATTERS.
The water continues to rise all day, and at four o'clock, it was estimated to be at the rate of two inches per hour. Such a rapid stage of water, as we are assured by old boatmen, is entirely unprecedented, and the appearance of a great flood is not far off. It is not probable that the water will rise to such a height as to cause any damage to the levees. The water is now at the rate of four feet above the stage of the last of the month. The water is now at the

RIVER MATTERS.
stage of water, as we are assured by old boatmen,
